AS WE SEE IT

By GEORGE JACKSON

Last week was a momentous one as far as relations between Hartnell and M.P.C. were concerned. The first event was the issuance of the administrative policy concerning raiding of the two campuses by students of rival colleges. The second was the meeting between four members of the M.P.C. executive council and the Hartnell commission.

The policy, which threatened any student found on the campus of the college he does not attend with suspension, should do a great deal to put an end to the vandalism always present before the two colleges meet in their annual football game.

Although at first examination this may seem to be too harsh, a closer look will show that a harsh policy is needed. It would appear that to most students the only way to appeal to them is to threaten them as individuals rather than as a group. This is shown by a comparison in policies concerning vandalism on the two campuses.

Before last week's edict, the policy between the two colleges was an agreement that the two would split costs of any damages caused at either college. This agreement was sound in theory, and any student thinking of his own college would abide by it. However, it would appear students did not think of their own college for the policy was not followed by students of either college.

When the new policy came out, the welfare of the individual was threatened and vandalism ceased. It is quite evident that even the person who has no respect for the college he attends can conform to the accepted standards when his own neck is threatened.

The joint meeting brought many interesting views and ideas concerning relations between the two colleges. From all indications M.P.C. is just as anxious to cement good relations as is Hartnell. The student leaders, and especially their faculty advisors, expressed the views of the students of M.P.C. as being very much in favor of any way to help build better relations.

In connection with this meeting, it was interesting to note the relationship of the M.P.C. executive council to the administration. At Hartnell the recent policy was issued as administrative sponsored and was accepted by students in a matter-of-fact manner.

At Monterey, however, the policy was "approved" by the executive council before release to the student body. It would have been quite a situation if the council had not "approved" the policy after

Hartnell Sponsors Small Colleges Invitational Basketball Tourney

Hartnell College's men's gym will be the site of the first Small Colleges' Basketball Tournament. Coach Ed Adams announced. There will be eight junior colleges participating, and the event will be held on December 18, 19, and 20.

Belt buckles will be given to each member of the championship squad; gold basketballs will go to the all-tournament team; and a trophy will go to the outstanding Hartnell player. All awards have been donated by Salinas business firms.

Under the guidance of Adams, the Panther cagers have been practicing since November 1, and Adams has high hopes for this year's young, tall team.

Football Receipts Announced by Binsacca

Football receipts for the first four home games this season total $6,342.76, Bill Binsacca, commissioner of finance, announced this week.

Largest crowd of the season was at the first game, against Taft J.C., which was played on a Friday night. The gate receipts at that contest were $1,898.26. Uncle Sam's share of this was $320.43.

The next three games, all played on Saturday nights, failed to equal the opening night. Receipts at the Stockton contest were $1,433, the Menlo game, which was also Homecoming, $1,344.75; and Modesto, $1,666.75.

Binsacca reported that the estimated income from football games is $7,809 after taxes. Out of this budget, and other special student body budgets, necessary game expenses and guarantees have to be paid.

Binsacca indicated that it is possible to reach the anticipated income if receipts at the next two games hold up to the present level.

Commission And Representatives From M.P.C. Meet

Guests of the Hartnell student body commission were four members of the Monterey Peninsula College student executive council and their advisor. The two groups met in a joint meeting in order to discuss the relations between the two schools and to plan better relations between them.

M.P.C. representatives reported they were in favor of putting the administrative policy concerning raids on the two campuses into effect. At M.P.C. the policy was not issued by the administration, but it was first approved by the student executive council then issued to the students.

There was general agreement between the two colleges that there should be more joint activities between the colleges and among the ideas suggested were exchange assemblies and a field day. The exchange assembly is in the state of preparation and will probably be presented in the near future.

Coach Ed Adams, in a letter, asked the student body to underwrite the Small Schools' Basketball Tournament, to be held here during Christmas vacation. The matter was briefly discussed, then turned over to the budget committee for further study and action.

Interclub Body Turns Attention To Carnival

With Homecoming out of the picture, Interclub Council President Jerry Skillicorn and his associates have turned their efforts to the completion and ratification of the constitution for the organization.

Although President Skillicorn has an almost completed document, he must present it to the council for possible revision, and then to each representative club for approval; after which it must be placed in the hands of the commission for final approval.

After the ordeal of having the constitution ratified is history, said Vice-President Cliff Herman, the council intends to concentrate on the promotion of better feelings between the clubs, and to the co-ordination of individual club activities being scheduled for the same night.

Conduct Forces Administration To Issue New Policy

No more football postgame dances will be held this year, Hartnell President John B. Lemos announced earlier this week. Dances will not be abolished completely, but dances may be held on the Friday preceding the football games.

This administrative edict came as a result of the very poor conduct displayed by persons who attended the dance following the Modesto-Hartnell game last Saturday night. The primary reason for the move was the violation of state laws regarding the possession of liquor on the college campus.

Since the beginning of the school year, students have been reminded of these laws, but the situation at the dances became progressively worse, so the present policy was announced by the administration.

It was assumed that many of the persons who are violating the state laws at the dances are those who drink at the games and then go to the dances. By abolishing the postgame dances, many of these persons will be eliminated from those in attendance at the dances.

It is supposed by the administration that this will be the final action they will have to take in regard to restricting dances. However, should the poor conduct continue, dances will be limited to student-body card holders and their dates or escorts.

La Reata to Give $5 Cash Prize on 17th

A $5 cash prize will be given away at the assembly on Friday, November 17.

Each La Reata pledge card has a number on it. President J. B. Lemos will pick a number and the person holding the card with that number on it will win the $5 cash prize.

Editor Andy Ausonio still wants snapshots for the Hartnell year book. The pictures will have to be extremely clear in order to be accepted for the book.

La Reata pledge cards are still on sale in front of the main office or in Room 9.

STUDENT PLAY SUPPORT POOR

Last week the Hartnell College drama department opened its season by presenting "The Heiress" on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights. Student attendance and support in the past have been poor but in last week's efforts they surpassed even their worst previous efforts.

Figures show there were five students in attendance at each of the three performances or a total of fifteen. When one considers there are about 750 students enrolled, it must make these students feel they are included in a select circle.

There is probably no group which stages productions of such high caliber in any college of comparable size, but still the drama department is unable to get any fair student representation at the plays.

The drama department is fully aware of the situation and has announced that unless attendance improves the high caliber of the type of productions must, of necessity, drop to a point where attendance would be able to cover expenses.

There is not much choice for the dramatics department. If there is not an increase, and soon, the high grade plays presented on the Hartnell stage will diminish. The future of the department is up to the students and the students alone. The question is whether or not they can realize their responsibilities.

LETTER TO EDITOR

In order to have an organized rooting section, we are asking that all students who would like to yell to sit in the section which will be reserved for them. Those who care only to see the game should sit on either side of the rooting section.

Therefore, those who do not want to yell will not have someone yelling in their ears. Please abide by the rules of the ushers and sit where they suggest you sit. Whether some of you students realize it or not our team is now in second place.

Another point I would like to bring out is that our players have done very well, and they could not have done as well if they did not have an exceptionally good coach.

Let's show the players and Coach Wilson how much we appreciate their hard work at the next three games. (Signed) LUCY PAPAC

League Standings

Monterey Peninsula College was on top of the southern division football standings this week with a record of four victories and no defeats. In second place was Hartnell College.

Monterey meets San Mateo November 18 while Hartnell plays C.C.S.F. on November 11 as the only conference games before M.P.C. and Hartnell meet here on Thanksgiving Day.

Other conference teams, Menlo and S.C.S.F., played nonleague opponents. East Los Angeles dumped San Francisco, 20-14, and Menlo whipped Coalinga, 16-7. San Mateo was idle.

Southern Division standings:

	W	L	Tied
Hartnell	3	1	0
Stockton	2	2	0
Modesto	2	2	0
Menlo	1	3	0
San Francisco	0	2	0
San Mateo	0	2	0

Attend Conference

Mr. John Lemos and Mr. Lyman Fowler are attending a meeting of the California State Junior College Association at the Ahwahnee Hotel in Yosemite. Attending the convention are representatives of junior colleges all over the state. The conclave will run during November 8, 9, and 10.

On the agenda to be discussed at the convention are: general education, athletic regulations, junior college and national mobilization, accreditation, legislation affecting junior colleges, and reports on standing committees.

Newman Club To Hold Potluck

Stoffey's Quonset hut will be the scene of gaiety and enjoyment for the members of the Hartnell Newman Club at an unannounced date next week when such activities as dancing, eating, and watching slides will highlight the club's potluck, under the direction of Pete Fosselman. Francis Scilacci and John Hannon, both of whom were in Europe during the past summer, will show their pictures.

It was also announced that the club constitution has been revised so that 30 per cent of all Newman funds will be set aside for the club library committee to purchase new books to contribute to the school library.

This committee, under the chairmanship of Catherine Russo, has already gone to work choosing outstanding volumes by Catholic authors, and their choices will be revealed at a later date. Assisting the chairman are Charles O'Neill, John Hannon, and Bob Azcona.

Lost and Found Department Has Many Articles

With the list already large, the lost and found department is growing by leaps and bounds. Located in the main office, the department is composed of all articles turned into the main office by persons who find them.

Included among the articles turned in are books, bandanas, pencils, pens, gloves, dinks, a red shirt, binders, glasses, purses, slide rules, and many other assorted items and possessions.

In charge of the lost and found department are the girls in the main office, and it is their desire to return the articles to the persons who lost them. Any person who has lost something about the campus should be sure to check with the lost and found to see if the items were turned in.

New Requirements For Graduation Set Up

President John B. Lemos has announced the addition of a new course to the list of required courses for graduation. This subject will be first aid and life saving.

Definite plans for the offering of this course have not been set up, but Lemos said it would probably be included in some physical education section.

This requirement was announced by the state board of education to follow plans for civilian defense in case of emergency.

Bookstore Does Big Business

By DICK JOHNSON

"Gee, ain't he wonderful?"
"Yeah, how does he do it?"

The preceding brilliant conversation was overheard at the entrance to the student store where approximately 45,000 new books and 15,000 used books are sold each school year.

It (the conversation) took place between two bright-eyed freshman girls as they watched the store attendant nonchalantly stroll into the black depths of the store and, after one casual glance at the maddening number of books staring at him from the shelves, deftly pluck the volumes they wanted, stride valiantly from the dimly lighted room, plunk the books on the counter in front of the girls and break the spell by saying, "$3.09 apiece, please."

After loading the coke machines, and telling a curious person that no less than 42,000 bars of candy and bottles of soft drinks are sold through the student store each school year, the attendant receives the money from the girls and clears the counter of their debris only to find that a rather obnoxious character has been hiding behind the rubbish in anticipation of making a bargain. It seems that this person has had his hygiene book through two semesters of the course, but wants to sell it back to the store for half price plus some supplies, on the grounds that the book has never been used, and it probably hasn't been.

After buying the book for the minimum half-price, the attendant braces himself as he faces the next customer, but, surprisingly enough, she is one of those very rare types of students who knows exactly what she wants. She tells the attendant distinctly what it is, and is ready to pay for the item with no fuss.

She is one of a small percentage of students who buy the aforementioned articles and some of the $7,000 worth of paper, jewelry, and other miscellaneous items who is pleasing to wait on. This type of customer is the only reward, other than pay, that the student store clerks receive.

Art Club Takes Part in Art Week

National Art Week found the Hartnell Art Club in "Little Bohemia." Members were seen with berets, loud-colored clothes, and dark glasses. Event of the day was the Bohemian luncheon which the club served.

CAMPUSOLOGY

By PAUL PARSONS

Last week was National Art Week and the Art Club members were dressed for the occasion. Outstanding among the would-be artists was Lou Bispo. He was seen decked out a bright yellow cardigan jacket, a droopy beret, sun glasses, and a long cigarette holder.

The little boys at Roosevelt Grammar School were rather reluctant to learn to do folk dances until Student Teachers Phyllis Butters, Marge Rains, and Barbara "Johnny" Johnson turned on their charms. Now the little fellows eagerly await folk dancing class each Tuesday and Thursday.

Ida Garcia, 1950 homecoming queen, has some competition. It seems that when the queen's float was being built for the parade Art Hedges was trying out the queen's throne. Art looked quite regal, but not quite feminine enough for the role.

During a bull session at last Saturday's after-game dance Levis were being discussed. Sally McAnaney said that she had a pair of Levis and that she had painted the bathroom in them. Bob Childs' immediate retort was, "I didn't know you had a bathroom in your Levis."

The Hartnell Bridge Club is again meeting in the "caf." "General" Freyer is on duty between the hours of 8 and 9 and between 11 and 1. The way it looks we can't tell if the General is breaking-up the games or giving lessons.

Looks like the Home Ec department is moving into Room 11. The last few weeks some of Mr. Wilson's students have been working in that room preparing what they say is going to be stew. Want some?

The ladies taking care of the election in the library moved to the edge of their seats when a few of Mr. Anselmo's engineering students started shooting steel balls toward the library window. The students are shooting the balls with the aid of a compressed air tank. One of the students said 500 pounds ought to do the trick.

Hoyle is planning to write some new rules in his well-known book. Paul Friebel and Hoyle will get together soon to discuss Paul's new system for playing canasta in the dark. Any young lady ("not too young, though," says Paul) who would like to learn the new system can contact Paul at any time.

SKI CLUB NUMBERS MORE THAN 70 SKIERS

Aside from showing the usual Friday noon movies, the 70-plus members of the Ski Club will discuss their first trip of the year to Donner Pass at their noon meeting today.

Company, Salinas; Jean Urmson, Salinas, office, Wheeler Radio and Appliance Company, Salinas; and Nancy Rianda, Salinas, office, Moose Lodge, Salinas.

Music Club Names Officers for Year

Music Club officers for the year are Jeannette German, president; Jean Urmson, vice-president; Diane Tripp, secretary-treasurer; Shirley Bequette, hospitality and membership chairman; Robert Azcona, Carla Adams, Jean Urmson, publicity committee; and Mr. Lorell McCann, Mr. Vahé Aslanian, advisors.

Panthers Dump Pirates 13-12 In Crucial League Game

Hartnell moved one step closer to the top of the league last Saturday by defeating the Modesto Pirates in an exciting and hard-fought battle, 13-12.

With the opening kickoff the Panthers moved down the field in what appeared to be a touchdown drive, but the score failed to materialize as they were held on the 4-yard line. The Panthers were not to be denied, though, and later, after a sustained drive from the midfield, John Gerard went into the end zone on a quarterback sneak.

Ev Skrine placed the ball as Bob Omogrosso booted for the extra point and the Harts jumped to an early 7-0 lead.

Modesto's giants fought back and in the second period they worked their way down the field and bucked into the end zone to bring the Pirates back into the game. Their conversion attempt failed, and the Panthers led 7-6 at the half.

A change was noted as the two teams entered the stadium for the last half. Modesto came back as an inspired team and the Panthers lacked the necessary fire. The Pirates caught fire and dominated the play in the third quarter and managed to score again in that period to take the lead from the Panthers. Their attempted conversion again was foiled and Hartnell trailed 12-7.

Things were beginning to look dark for the Hartnell fans when Bob Swan faded back to pass and was apparently trapped for a loss. Bob, seeing his receivers covered, decided to run the ball. Time and again he stepped away from enemy tacklers, and he managed to bring the ball down to the Modesto 14.

From the 14 the Panthers picked up a new spirit, and marched on to the Modesto goal line where Ev Skrine slid off tackle to regain the lost lead for the Panthers with six minutes remaining in the final quarter. Omogrosso attempted the conversion again, but it sailed wide.

Modesto recovered a Hartnell fumble in the waning minutes and passed and ran their way down to the Hartnell 24 before the Pan-

Top Players Named

Coach Ab Wilson announced that the top players of the Hartnell-Modesto game last Saturday night were: Bob Swan, offensive back; Dave McChesney, defensive back; Bob Roebuck, offensive lineman; and John Piini, defensive lineman.

These outstanding players will each receive two free dinners at Dutch Youngman's as their reward.

Hartnell Scores In San Mateo Play Day

Hartnell placed high in the archery and badminton contests at a coeducational sports day at San Mateo Junior College last Saturday.

Those who entered the archery contest were: Elaine Lowry, Elinor Schultz, Bob Moger, and Bill Moger. Bill Moger of Salinas took first place in the event with a score of 469.

Representatives in the badminton field for Hartnell were: Bill Maison; Mary Manteufel, Jerry Skillicorn, Lois Walsh, and Betty Westphal. Bill Maison and Jerry Skillicorn placed first in the men's doubles and Jerry Skillicorn and Lois Walsh also placed in the mixed doubles.

In the women's badminton doubles, Lois Walsh and Betty Westphal made the finals but were eliminated, and Santa Rosa.

thers tightened their defenses and held. On their fourth down Modesto tried a desperation field goal, but John Piini saved the day for the Panthers by crashing through to block the kick.

Swan ran quarterback sneaks until the clock ran out, and the Panthers continued on their comeback trail.

Again the defensive work of the team was outstanding. R. A. Taylor was the tiger of the defense, and he managed to be at the right place at the right time when needed. Dave McChesney distinguished himself again as did Ernie Wilson, John Piini, Manny Quintero, and Ev Skrine.

Omogrosso and Frank Ryder provided the Panthers with more fine running, and the forward wall paved the way for the offensive gains. The short lapse of spirit in the third quarter gave the fans a scare, but the Panthers proved that they are still a fighting team by coming back in the final period.

CCSF, Hartnell Battle Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon the Panthers journey to the big city to show their stuff to the City College of San Francisco Rams. The Armistice Day battle will begin about 1:30, and will provide those fans who are able to attend the game an exciting afternoon.

C.C.S.F. has not had the team this year that it has boasted in the past few years, but they are always a ready foe for the Panthers. The Hartnell team will undoubtedly go into the game as slight favorites because of their recent wins over Menlo and Modesto. However, they had better be prepared for the game for it is highly possible that the Rams will produce an upset.

Hartnell should be at full strength for the encounter, and if they keep up their spirit it looks like a championship game will be played here at Salinas on Thanksgiving Day.

One of the greatest dangers facing the Panthers is the old menace of overconfidence. It will be a big job for Coach Ab Wilson to keep his boys from feeling that the game will be a cinch. The Rams will be pointing for this one, and they will be doing their best to spill the Panthers.

Coach Wilson is going to stand by his game-winning captain of the year, Bob Roebuck. Big Bob will be in there again this week leading the team against San Francisco.

Advance notices from the city of hills send a warning to all foes to beware of a mighty fullback, a mighty halfback, and one scooter.

Interclass Touch Football Today

Coach Jess Regli reports that two of his gym classes will stage an annual touch football championship game at noon today. The best of his Monday-Wednesday 8 o'clock class will battle the best of the Tuesday-Thursday 10 o'clock class.

The scene of the conflict will be the playing field at the rear of the college.

The names of these gentlemen are Bob McBride, Al Andriess, and Stan Haan.

The usual broadcast of the game will be recorded and brought to the fans over KDON at 8 o'clock on Armistice Day.

Sport Shorts

By BILL BELL

Last week was one of the greatest for the Panthers in many a year. They moved within a couple of games of the conference championship. The Modesto Pirates were the worst hurdle to clear, and now if the Panthers can get by the always dangerous S.F. Rams it means a championship battle to be staged for the fans here on Thanksgiving Day.

The excited cry, "Thar she blows!" may well have meant whales in days gone by, but to the fans of the Panther-Pirate game last Saturday it adopted a new meaning. Late in the game the play was halted when the 40-yard line gave birth to a baby geyser. Coach Ab Wilson and his assistant, Bill Whited, rushed to the scene to try to stem the flow.

Manager Jacop saved the day by providing a towel to plug the break. The water was not to be pacified so easily, though, and before long another spout was seen on the 10-yard line, and still another across the field from it. The rampaging sprinkling system was at last controlled, but it did provide for the tense fans a good laugh. In a certain English IB class this just might have been called "comic relief."

We failed to make the press with a story last week that should have received our attention, but slipped by. Last Friday afternoon several Hartnell athletes who get little attention from the students competed in a cross-country meet with Sacramento.

The Panthers failed to beat the long-legged aggregation from the Solon city, but they placed second and third in the two and one-half mile course. Hartnell men in the event were Ray Dyer, who placed a close second to the winner; Bud Chase, who captured third place for the Panthers; George Tucker; and Bob Stillwell.
